Dear Dr. Sindlof,

We read frequently about antibiotic resistance to o late to do much about it. It would seem that using antibiotics to promote growth in animals or to keep them from developing diseases which better hygiene might prevent equally well is borrowing trouble.

It is not surprising that some countries refuse to buy our meat products. Instead of trying to force them to do so we could ban antibiotics here.

We urge you to do so.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Elisabeth and Edgar Lehman
